

Singapore - Little India Walking Tour

📍 Singapore

Shared | Half-Day | Community & Culture

Singapore has come to be defined by the remarkable diversity within its borders. At its core, this modern and futuristic city-state has embraced the multicultural facets of its people and has taken great steps to highlight their heritage and preserve it. No doubt, Little India has made a profound impact on how Singapore drives and thrives in the tourism space, making this colourful neighbourhood a must-see experience when setting foot in Singapore.

You will meet your guide at a central meeting point near Little India before heading into one of the most vibrant and happening districts within the Little Red Dot. Start off by exploring Tekka Centre, the commercial heart and soul of the city. The flavours and spices of India invigorate your senses as you wander through the stalls and get a taste of Little India through Teh Tarik and local sweets.

Cross the road to a garland shop and marvel at the craftsmanship involved in creating handmade flower garlands! Next, explore Tan Teng Niah, a distinctive Chinese villa amidst shophouses, and head over to the Sri Veeramakaliamman Temple, one of Singapore's oldest Hindu temples, where you can seek blessings from the local priest. The tour ends at the central meeting point before returning to your hotel or venturing further into the heart of Singapore.

What to Expect

- Explore Little India, a vibrant and diverse neighbourhood in Singapore, and enjoy its food and culture.
- Visit Tekka Centre, a lively market with a spice shop and delicious Indian snacks, and observe garland-making at a nearby shop.
- Admire Tan Teng Niah, a colourful Chinese villa, and Sri Veeramakaliamman Temple, an ancient Hindu temple, and make an offering with your garland.

